NAMES FOR GIRLS.

W HAT a pity it is that those who have the naming of us could not dip into the future further than human eye can see, and thereby avoid such startling mist is as sturapy. Freekled Lilys, and tough, scrawny Blanches. Both Lilys, and tough, scrawny Blanches. Both these names ought to pertain to what is fair, not pale. But precious few ever think that a name is enviling under than a mere arbitrary collection of sounds. They have not taken the trouble to learn that Ethel means notice; that Sarah is a princess; Susan a By; that Anne, Phoebe, Lucy, and Clara, are in signification the same, all standing for light, brightness, snoting purity. So as Theodora, the gift of God. Dorothy has almost the same meaning. Dolores is the sorrowful or sorrowing one, Esther, Estelle, Estrella, are variants in the many languages of the Greek astra, a star. Mary and Martha are identical in significance—both mom their possessor to bitteriess. —New York Journal.

WOMAN'S VOTE.

THE advantage of the suffrage has been THE advantage of the suffrage has been put to a practicul test in Vermont. In that State women are entitled to vote for school officers, and the triumph of the Democratic candidate in Rutland is due to the fact. In purely municipal affairs, where women have no slare, the Republicans won. The question of lethool government, however, was decided by the faciale vote. The race was unusually diese, and the Democratic party owes its success to one woman, the mother of the man to whom the honor fell.
